About this forum

Northeast Ohio has the potential to become a center for sustainable business, technology and industry. Several local firms already focus on sustainability. Who are they and how can we attract others? What do we need to do to create a national identity as a center for sustainability?

Join in this interactive dialogue with civic, professional, education and government representatives to explore the possibilities.

Panelists Include:

- Richard Stuebi, BP Fellow for Energy and Environmental Advancement, The Cleveland Foundation
- J. Iwan D. Alexander, Professor of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering and Director, National Center for Space Exploration Research, Case Western Reserve University
- Leo Russo, Director, Construction Industry Training, Skilled Trades Apprenticeships, and the Green Academy, Cuyahoga Community College
- Amy Todd, LEED AP, Director International Interior Design Association, Cleveland/Akron City Center
- Andrew Watterson, Sustainable Programs Manager, City of Cleveland
- Mark Norman, Builder and Founder of The House on Third Street

Moderator:

- Tom Waltermire, Chief Executive Officer, Team Northeast Ohio (Team NEO)

THE PROGRAM WILL ALSO INCLUDE A TRADE
 EXPO OF SUSTAINABLE
 PRODUCTS, SERVICES AND TECHNOLOGIES.
