UST 493/593 | Urban Issues/Special Topics:

Project Leadership and Management

- Course Meeting Time: Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 pm (Remote)
- 3 Credits
- Instructors: Dr. Ronald M. Berkman (President Emeritus, CSU) and Dean Roland V. Anglin

Course Overview:

This course provides students the opportunity to learn and apply Project Leadership and Management skills in a real time environment. Groups of students will work collaboratively on projects with direct applicability to important issues and challenges within metropolitan Cleveland. All or most of these projects will be identified by partner public and non-profit agencies. For all projects, we will engage leaders within the organization to provide support, direction, and collaboration with students working on the project. There may be projects that are generated by administration or faculty at CSU which address key issues within the University. Students will also be given an opportunity to suggest projects that match their interest and passion.
